

THE BEST

boon ever bestowed upon man in perfect health, and the true way to insure health is to purify your blood with Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Mrs. Eliza A. Clough, of Arlington St., Lowell, Mass., writes: "Every winter and spring my family, including myself, use several bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Experience has convinced me that, as a powerful purifier, it is very much superior to any other preparation of Sarsaparilla. All persons of scrupulous or convulsive tendencies, and especially delicate children, are sure to be greatly benefited by its use." J. W. Starr, Iacina, Iowa, writes: "For years I was troubled with serious complaints. I tried several different preparations, which did me little, if any, good. Two bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla effected a complete cure. It is my opinion that this medicine is the best blood of the day." C. E. Upton, Nashua, N. H., writes: "For a number of years I was troubled with a humor in my eyes, and unable to obtain relief until I commenced using Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I have taken several bottles, am greatly benefited, and believe it to be the best of blood purifiers." R. Harris, Crest City, Ramsey Co., Dakota, writes: "I have been an intense sufferer, with Dyspepsia, for the past three years. Six months ago I began to use

Blood

Purifier

AYER'S Sarsaparilla

It has effected an entire cure, and I am now as well as ever."

Sold by all Druggists.

Price $1; Six bottles, $5.

Prepared by Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass., U. S. A.

For Instant Use

As a reliable remedy, in cases of Croup, Whooping Cough, or sudden Colds, and for the prompt relief and cure of throat and lung diseases, Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is invaluable. Mrs. E. G. Elderly, Council Bluffs, Iowa, writes: "I consider Ayer's Cherry Pectoral a most important remedy for home use. I have tested its curative power, in my family, many times during the past thirty years, and have never known it to fail. It will relieve the most serious affections of the throat and lungs, whether in children or adults." John H. Stoddard, Petersburg, Va., writes: "I have never found a medicine equal to

AYER'S Cherry Pectoral

for the prompt relief of throat and lung diseases peculiar to children. I consider it an absolute cure for all such affections, and am never without it in the house." Mrs. L. E. Herman, 187 Mercer st., Jersey City, writes: "I have many times found Ayer's Cherry Pectoral useful in my family." W. T. Johnson, Mt. Savage, Md., writes: "For the speedy cure of sudden Colds, and for the relief of children afflicted with Croup, I have never found anything equal to Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. It is the most potent of all the remedies I have ever used." W. H. Sticker, Terre Haute, Ind., writes: "Ayer's Cherry Pectoral cured my wife of a severe lung affection, supposed to be Quick Consumption. We now regard the Pectoral as a household necessity." E. M. Breckenridge, Brainerd, Minn., writes: "I am subject to Bronchitis, and, wherever I go, am always sure to have a bottle of with me. It is without a rival for the cure of bronchial affections."

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

PREPARED BY
Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass.

For sale by all Druggists.

MALTBY, BENTLEY & CO.,

Wholesale and Retail.

GROCERS!

WINES, LIQUORS,

TOBACCO AND TEAS

Fine Concord Wine for medicinal purposes.

No. 19, Market Street.

DR. DEWITT C. FRANKLIN,

Dentist,

Office: Fulton Street, next door to Postoffice.

BLISSFUL EVENT.

The Presidential Wedding Next Wednesday.

EVERYBODY IS HAPPY.

The Chief Topic of Conversation Everywhere.

CONGRATULATORY CHATTER

ANOTHER CHARM TO OFFICIAL LIFE IN WASHINGTON.

PREPARATIONS FOR THE NEUTRAL.

White House as Decorations—The President and Party in New York to Attend Memorial Day Exercises—The Return to Washington With the Bride.

WASHINGTON, June 1.—The blissful event, the marriage of President Cleveland and Miss Folsom, which is to take place here next Wednesday, is and has been for two days the chief topic of conversation everywhere. The president of the senate, the speakers of the house, legislators at both ends of the Capitol forget the cares of office and the tariff and the silver question and big and little whigs and chat about it pleasantly.

In fact everybody is gossiping about the wedding. Speaker Carlisle is credited with exclaiming in a perfunctory manner the president's purpose by saying that: "It's the regular order and the chair bears no objection."

Congressman Spriggs, of New York, voicing the feeling of everybody, said: "The president is to be congratulated. Miss Folsom is to be congratulated; the country is to be congratulated, and we are all glad at the president's marriage. The presence of the president's wife at the executive mansion will add another charm to official life in Washington."

The president left Washington at 4:15 yesterday afternoon on a special car for New York to attend Memorial Day exercises in New York and Brooklyn.

He was accompanied by Postmaster General and Mrs. Vilas, Secretary and Mrs. Endicott, Secretary Lamar and Mrs. Lamont. The president after participating in the memorial ceremonies in New York to-day, and listening to Postmaster General Vilas' address at the academy of music in New York to-night, will return to Washington at 4:15 to-morrow morning.

Miss Cleveland, who is here will be busily engaged Tuesday and Wednesday morning, attending the details of the White House decorations and putting things in order for her brother's marriage.

In New York. NEW YORK, June 1.—President Cleveland and party arrived here at 10:38 last night. The president went at once to the Gilsey house. The president was met at the Pennsylvania depot by Mr. Folsom. The two gentlemen entered a carriage, and were driven to the Gilsey house, where the president remained with Miss Folsom until 12:30 o'clock. The president then went to the residence of Secretary Whitney, whose guest he will be during his stay here.

The door of the president's car had been kept locked on the journey from Washington. As soon as the regular passengers had mingled, the waiting ladies quickly descended, and the president walked quickly down a platform to the parlor car with young Benjamin Folsom, the bride's cousin, by his side. The instant Secretary Whitney stepped out the crowd broke apart, and Police Captain Gustin, with a reserve of eighteen stalwart men in blue, marched after him, two abreast, to act as a guard for the president. Behind the policemen walked Police Commissioner Vorhees and Superintendent Murray and Inspector Breen.

Mr. Whitney and Mr. Folsom lifted their hats as the president alighted. Mr. Cleveland looked decidedly cheerful and good humored. His face did not have the rather stern expression that usually marks him. He wore black trousers with a frock coat and waistcoat of black diagonal. A plain black tie was knotted by his standing collar, and he wore a broad-brimmed black silk hat. He smilingly returned the bow of Mr. Whitney and Folsom, and, taking his arm in Mr. Whitney's, walked down the platform. Behind him were Secretaries Vilas and Lamar with their wives and Secretary Endicott. The policemen marched in a line on either side of the party and banneted it in. No crowd that it wasn't until the president got right up to the crowd that he was recognized. A young man, who was in front of the little throng that packed the narrow wooden balcony yawned over the heads of the crowd, was the first to greet him.

"How are you, Grover?" he yelled, and waved his hat and his unoccupied hand at the president. Everybody roared at the greeting. It was too much for the president's gravity, too. He looked up at the young fellow and let out a hearty, happy laugh. A party of ladies waved handkerchiefs at him, experimentally, and were gratified when he took off his hat and bowed in return.

Still escorted by the police, he stepped into Mr. Whitney's carriage. The members of the cabinet and the ladies of the party took other carriages. The carriages were driven on board the ferryboat Baltimore and the band of Butler Post and the crowd followed.

The band played a number of strains of music and the ferryboat started for the brook street. The crowd had lost sight of the president in the crush of the carriages, and as the boat started an amusing hunt began on the part of the passengers who wanted to shake hands with him and congratulate him. They found the carriage in the middle of the group of vehicles after a ten minutes' hunt but they couldn't see Mr. Cleveland very well.

When the boat was half way across the river Secretary Whitney got out of the carriage and young Mr. Folsom took his place by the president. By this time everybody had congratulated the president who could get near enough to the carriage to shake his hand. Mr. Whitney got into another coach and as soon as the ferryboat landed drove quickly to his residence on Fifth avenue to prepare for the president's coming.

The president drove to the Gilsey house at once so Miss Folsom could get ready. She was with them and they took the shortest out. The carriage bowed by the window of Miss Folsom's room and drew up at the private entrance on West Thirtieth street. Mr. Cleveland came so suddenly and unexpectedly that there wasn't any crowd there until it began to gather to find out why the police were there. The president didn't have to wait a second to find the door. A porter opened it. The instant his foot was on the top step, Mr. and young Mr. Folsom went up stairs together to the private parlor, where President Cleveland spent an hour and a few minutes over in the society of his betrothed. At five minutes past midnight the president and Mr. Ben Folsom came out of the private door and parted there. Mr. Folsom returning to his room and Mr. Cleveland disappearing in the carriage.

At 12:15 a. m. President Cleveland was driven to Mr. Whitney's residence. A policeman opened the door and the president's carriage for him, and Mr. Whitney received him in the vestibule. The day had passed very quietly for Mrs. Folsom and her daughter. Although they had expected to attend church they abandoned that plan and waited about the time that the church bells began to think about putting on their bonnets. In consequence of the published reports of this intention to attend church, the church of the Transfiguration was crowded with persons hoping to see the president at 4:15. The president, however, had chosen for his bride.

Lunch was served in the parlor about 1 o'clock and shortly afterward came a telegram from Washington for Miss Folsom. A lot of flowers were being sent in the day, sent by the president's order, although not from the White House conservatories. Other flowers were sent by friends in this city.

Washington Affairs.

WASHINGTON, June 1.—With the growing anxiety to learn when congress will adjourn, and the increasing desire to secure as much work as possible during the remainder of the session, the proceedings henceforth, although in the great part routine, promises to be more interesting than for some time past. Most of the bills in the hands of house representatives, where there is the greatest variety of measures, amendments and determinations, and where most of the work is to be accomplished.

When the house meets on Tuesday another clamor for consideration of the tariff bill is expected. Mr. Dunn will demand a consideration of the debate on his free ship bill, while Mr. Rogers will insist on the consideration of his interstate commerce bill. Both may attempt to secure the floor, but there is so large a majority for the oleomargarine bill that that measure will undoubtedly hold up the tariff bill as soon as the legislative, executive and judicial bill is passed, but that is denied upon authority. Mr. Morrison says he will not let the tariff conflict with consideration of appropriation bills.

In connection with this matter a good deal of corridor talk has been indulged in by members of congress about the fate of the tariff bill. Anti-tariff reformers say that if an effort is made to take up the bill this session it will fail, and they are endeavoring in figures to prove their assertions. At this time the Democrats have a majority of forty-five in the house. Mr. Randall's followers state more positively and in concrete terms produce names that forty-two Democrats will vote against the tariff bill when the question of passage is presented. They would give the anti-tariff reformers a majority of twenty-two, provided all the Republicans, and it is asserted they will do so, oppose the measure. It is contended by the anti-tariff reformers that three of their number on the Democratic side and four on the Republican side will vote for consideration of the tariff bill. The Morrison men do not, however, concede the truthfulness of any part of this showing, and contend that their measure will be debated before adjournment. Some of them say the bill will be placed before the house by the middle of June, and it will stand until when there are appropriation bills to work upon, and that it will be pending at the time congress adjourns over to December.

This is a considerable variety of the situation, and puts the time when congress can and will adjourn within the bounds of dates made by Messrs. Randall, Carlisle, Morrison and others, anywhere from the 15th to the 15th of July.

The tariff bill, which was considered in the senate on Tuesday, was passed by a majority of two, and the enacting clause was stricken out by the same majority, the speaker voting "no" upon the final proposition.

In the senate the caucus committee, appointed last week, will at least, to a considerable extent, control the order of business. The bills to forfeit certain portions of the Northern Pacific land grant, to provide for taxation of railroad grant lands, and to establish a uniform system of bankruptcy, are unfinished business, and will consume most of the time.

Mr. Platt's resolution providing for the consideration of executive business with open doors seems doomed to go over to the next session. So far the speeches that have been delivered on the question have been in its favor and should be postponed until the next session it will stand in a good light for final disposition.

Oleomargarine, Tobacco and Brandy.

WASHINGTON, June 1.—When the house goes into committee of the whole to resume consideration of the oleomargarine bill on Tuesday, the chairman of the committee, Mr. Springer, of Illinois, will be expected to rule on the amendments offered on Saturday by Mr. Daniel, of Virginia, which propose to abolish the internal revenue tax on tobacco and brandy. There is no doubt the chairman will decide that the amendment is germane, as the bill under consideration is a revenue bill. This decision will bring before the house a direct vote on the proposition of repealing the tax on tobacco and brandy; but there are members who desire this who will vote against the incorporation of such amendments in the oleomargarine bill, therefore the vote may not be one which can be considered as a test vote on the tobacco and brandy tax question.

Congressional Statistics.

WASHINGTON, June 1.—A statement prepared by the Sunday Capital statistics, shows that more bills have been passed during the sixth months of this session than during the same length of time in any previous session of congress, and that the reports from committees in both houses are very much in excess of any previous congress more than double. On the 26th of May 1885, the first session of the Forty-seventh congress, the senate committee had made 655 reports and the house committee 1,000. On the 26th of May, 1884, the first session of the Forty-eighth congress, the senate had made 784 reports, and the house 1,720; on the 26th of May, yesterday, the senate had made 1,363 reports, and the house 2,651.

This is a record that no congress has ever surpassed. The greater part of the bills passed, however, have been pension bills.

AMONG THE RAILROADS.

Queen and Crescent Changes Six Hundred

CINCINNATI, June 1.—One of the most important events in local railroad circles transpired yesterday. It was the changing of gauge on the Cincinnati and Northern divisions of the Queen & Crescent system. Four men were employed to the mile on the Cincinnati Southern, and three on the Cincinnati Northern, the work making a total of 2,230 men besides hand-car-men, which increased the number of the neighborhood of 10,000 men. The gauge was formerly five feet wide, known as the broad gauge. Yesterday it was changed to the standard gauge, 4 1/2 feet wide. To say that the change will result in great advantage to the Queen & Crescent is expressive; it is but mildly.

New railroad coming from New York to go through direct to New Orleans without the least alteration. It will save the road thousands of dollars which were necessarily expended here in unloading and loading cars. The changing of gauge was by no means done in one day. It was completed in one day, but preparations for this immense work have been going on for the past few months. The arrangements have been made so perfectly that the final labor necessary was done in a most judicious manner possible. This preparatory work consisted in aiding or cutting the tie to a smooth or even surface with the rail, and clearing away any obstructions in the way of the tie for a space not less than five inches from the rail that is to be moved in, so that when the change was made the bearing of the track was not destroyed.

All spikes not absolutely necessary had been drawn out. The rail was fastened to cross-ties by means of iron bolts in the inside and the other on the outside. All inside spikes had been drawn except the spikes in every third cross-tie on tangents and every other tie on curves. By means of templates to measure the distance that the rail was to be moved a great deal of valuable time has also been saved by driving the inside spikes beforehand. Inside spikes have been set with templates in every third tie, and project slightly above the surface of the tie to receive the base of the rail. When the change actually took place, therefore, all that was necessary to be done was to draw the five inside spikes that have been set to keep the rail in position, above the base of the rail under the spikes that have already been driven on the inside of the new gauge, and then secure it by driving the outside spikes, leaving the old outside spikes to be drawn at a future time. This arrangement also saves the necessity for measuring the gauge and arranging bearings.

The 361 miles, were divided into sections by the roadmen. The miles were assigned to each section were divided into two gangs, and commenced to change as nearly in the middle of the section as was decided by the foreman of the C. & N. T. P. gang from one other until each mile the gang working toward them from the adjoining sections.

The division of the Queen & Crescent, the N. O. & N. E., the V. & W., and the V. & S. & P. have been changed to standard gauge some time ago, so that now the entire gauge of the C. & N. T. P. amounting to 1,551 1/2 miles, consist of standard gauge. The changing of the track is not, however, a big work as it has been accomplished in the rolling stock. For months the engines and cars have been undergoing changes, and the work has been of considerable extent.

Death of Dr. W. O. Whitely.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., June 1.—Dr. W. O. Baldwin died at his home in this city yesterday morning. He was among the eminent physicians of this country, and the president of the American Medical Association in 1867.

THE NEWS FROM EUROPE

THE SITUATION OF HOME RULE IN ENGLAND.

The Premier Dismisses High Art in His Parliamentary Platform—The Second Reading—No Departure in Any Particular. Expulsion of the Orleans Princes.

LONDON, June 1.—[From the meeting of the Home Rule Liberals broke up on Thursday afternoon the impression was that Mr. Gladstone had carried his point, and secured a majority for the second reading of his measure. The concessions there offered to the Liberal opponents of the present scheme went beyond expectation. Nothing, indeed, was offered, in the whole of the session, excluded from the meeting by the terms of the call. Mr. Bright also felt himself excluded from this singular Liberal meeting which banished him. Mr. Chamberlain, who had meant to attend the meeting, changed his mind on reading Mr. Gladstone's letter making attendance equivalent to a pledge for Home Rule; but a number of his followers were present. They with the Gladstone made up the number to 210, less than two-thirds of the total number of the Liberal opponents of the present scheme went beyond expectation. Nothing, indeed, was offered, in the whole of the session, excluded from the meeting by the terms of the call. Mr. Bright also felt himself excluded from this singular Liberal meeting which banished him. Mr. Chamberlain, who had meant to attend the meeting, changed his mind on reading Mr. Gladstone's letter making attendance equivalent to a pledge for Home Rule; but a number of his followers were present. They with the Gladstone made up the number to 210, less than two-thirds of the total number of the Liberal opponents of the present scheme went beyond expectation. Nothing, indeed, was offered, in the whole of the session, excluded from the meeting by the terms of the call. Mr. Bright also felt himself excluded from this singular Liberal meeting which banished him. Mr. Chamberlain, who had meant to attend the meeting, changed his mind on reading Mr. Gladstone's letter making attendance equivalent to a pledge for Home Rule; but a number of his followers were present. They with the Gladstone made up the number to 210, less than two-thirds of the total number of the Liberal opponents of the present scheme went beyond expectation. Nothing, indeed, was offered, in the whole of the session, excluded from the meeting by the terms of the call. Mr. Bright also felt himself excluded from this singular Liberal meeting which banished him. Mr. Chamberlain, who had meant to attend the meeting, changed his mind on reading Mr. Gladstone's letter making attendance equivalent to a pledge for Home Rule; but a number of his followers were present. They with the Gladstone made up the number to 210, less than two-thirds of the total number of the Liberal opponents of the present scheme went beyond expectation. Nothing, indeed, was offered, in the whole of the session, excluded from the meeting by the terms of the call. Mr. Bright also felt himself excluded from this singular Liberal meeting which banished him. Mr. Chamberlain, who had meant to attend the meeting, changed his mind on reading Mr. Gladstone's letter making attendance equivalent to a pledge for Home Rule; but a number of his followers were present. They with the Gladstone made up the number to 210, less than two-thirds of the total number of the Liberal opponents of the present scheme went beyond expectation. Nothing, indeed, was offered, in the whole of the session, excluded from the meeting by the terms of the call. Mr. Bright also felt himself excluded from this singular Liberal meeting which banished him. Mr. Chamberlain, who had meant to attend the meeting, changed his mind on reading Mr. Gladstone's letter making attendance equivalent to a pledge for Home Rule; but a number of his followers were present. They with the Gladstone made up the number to 210, less than two-thirds of the total number of the Liberal opponents of the present scheme went beyond expectation. Nothing, indeed, was offered, in the whole of the session, excluded from the meeting by the terms of the call. Mr. Bright also felt himself excluded from this singular Liberal meeting which banished him. Mr. Chamberlain, who had meant to attend the meeting, changed his mind on reading Mr. Gladstone's letter making attendance equivalent to a pledge for Home Rule; but a number of his followers were present. They with the Gladstone made up the number to 210, less than two-thirds of the total number of the Liberal opponents of the present scheme went beyond expectation. Nothing, indeed, was offered, in the whole of the session, excluded from the meeting by the terms of the call. Mr. Bright also felt himself excluded from this singular Liberal meeting which banished him. Mr. Chamberlain, who had meant to attend the meeting, changed his mind on reading Mr. Gladstone's letter making attendance equivalent to a pledge for Home Rule; but a number of his followers were present. They with the Gladstone made up the number to 210, less than two-thirds of the total number of the Liberal opponents of the present scheme went beyond expectation. Nothing, indeed, was offered, in the whole of the session, excluded from the meeting by the terms of the call. Mr. Bright also felt himself excluded from this singular Liberal meeting which banished him. Mr. Chamberlain, who had meant to attend the meeting, changed his mind on reading Mr. Gladstone's letter making attendance equivalent to a pledge for Home Rule; but a number of his followers were present. They with the Gladstone made up the number to 210, less than two-thirds of the total number of the Liberal opponents of the present scheme went beyond expectation. Nothing, indeed, was offered, in the whole of the session, excluded from the meeting by the terms of the call. Mr. Bright also felt himself excluded from this singular Liberal meeting which banished him. Mr. Chamberlain, who had meant to attend the meeting, changed his mind on reading Mr. Gladstone's letter making attendance equivalent to a pledge for Home Rule; but a number of his followers were present. They with the Gladstone made up the number to 210, less than two-thirds of the total number of the Liberal opponents of the present scheme went beyond expectation. Nothing, indeed, was offered, in the whole of the session, excluded from the meeting by the terms of the call. Mr. Bright also felt himself excluded from this singular Liberal meeting which banished him. Mr. Chamberlain, who had meant to attend the meeting, changed his mind on reading Mr. Gladstone's letter making attendance equivalent to a pledge for Home Rule; but a number of his followers were present. They with the Gladstone made up the number to 210, less than two-thirds of the total number of the Liberal opponents of the present scheme went beyond expectation. Nothing, indeed, was offered, in the whole of the session, excluded from the meeting by the terms of the call. Mr. Bright also felt himself excluded from this singular Liberal meeting which banished him. Mr. Chamberlain, who had meant to attend the meeting, changed his mind on reading Mr. Gladstone's letter making attendance equivalent to a pledge for Home Rule; but a number of his followers were present. They with the Gladstone made up the number to 210, less than two-thirds of the total number of the Liberal opponents of the present scheme went beyond expectation. Nothing, indeed, was offered, in the whole of the session, excluded from the meeting by the terms of the call. Mr. Bright also felt himself excluded from this singular Liberal meeting which banished him. Mr. Chamberlain, who had meant to attend the meeting, changed his mind on reading Mr. Gladstone's letter making attendance equivalent to a pledge for Home Rule; but a number of his followers were present. They with the Gladstone made up the number to 210, less than two-thirds of the total number of the Liberal opponents of the present scheme went beyond expectation. Nothing, indeed, was offered, in the whole of the session, excluded from the meeting by the terms of the call. Mr. Bright also felt himself excluded from this singular Liberal meeting which banished him. Mr. Chamberlain, who had meant to attend the meeting, changed his mind on reading Mr. Gladstone's letter making attendance equivalent to a pledge for Home Rule; but a number of his followers were present. They with the Gladstone made up the number to 210, less than two-thirds of the total number of the Liberal opponents of the present scheme went beyond expectation. Nothing, indeed, was offered, in the whole of the session, excluded from the meeting by the terms of the call. Mr. Bright also felt himself excluded from this singular Liberal meeting which banished him. Mr. Chamberlain, who had meant to attend the meeting, changed his mind on reading Mr. Gladstone's letter making attendance equivalent to a pledge for Home Rule; but a number of his followers were present. They with the Gladstone made up the number to 210, less than two-thirds of the total number of the Liberal opponents of the present scheme went beyond expectation. Nothing, indeed, was offered, in the whole of the session, excluded from the meeting by the terms of the call. Mr. Bright also felt himself excluded from this singular Liberal meeting which banished him. Mr. Chamberlain, who had meant to attend the meeting, changed his mind on reading Mr. Gladstone's letter making attendance equivalent to a pledge for Home Rule; but a number of his followers were present. They with the Gladstone made up the number to 210, less than two-thirds of the total number of the Liberal opponents of the present scheme went beyond expectation. Nothing, indeed, was offered, in the whole of the session, excluded from the meeting by the terms of the call. Mr. Bright also felt himself excluded from this singular Liberal meeting which banished him. Mr. Chamberlain, who had meant to attend the meeting, changed his mind on reading Mr. Gladstone's letter making attendance equivalent to a pledge for Home Rule; but a number of his followers were present. They with the Gladstone made up the number to 210, less than two-thirds of the total number of the Liberal opponents of the present scheme went beyond expectation. Nothing, indeed, was offered, in the whole of the session, excluded from the meeting by the terms of the call. Mr. Bright also felt himself excluded from this singular Liberal meeting which banished him. Mr. Chamberlain, who had meant to attend the meeting, changed his mind on reading Mr. Gladstone's letter making attendance equivalent to a pledge for Home Rule; but a number of his followers were present. They with the Gladstone made up the number to 210, less than two-thirds of the total number of the Liberal opponents of the present scheme went beyond expectation. Nothing, indeed, was offered, in the whole of the session, excluded from the meeting by the terms of the call. Mr. Bright also felt himself excluded from this singular Liberal meeting which banished him. Mr. Chamberlain, who had meant to attend the meeting, changed his mind on reading Mr. Gladstone's letter making attendance equivalent to a pledge for Home Rule; but a number of his followers were present. They with the Gladstone made up the number to 210, less than two-thirds of the total number of the Liberal opponents of the present scheme went beyond expectation. Nothing, indeed, was offered, in the whole of the session, excluded from the meeting by the terms of the call. Mr. Bright also felt himself excluded from this singular Liberal meeting which banished him. Mr. Chamberlain, who had meant to attend the meeting, changed his mind on reading Mr. Gladstone's letter making attendance equivalent to a pledge for Home Rule; but a number of his followers were present. They with the Gladstone made up the number to 210, less than two-thirds of the total number of the Liberal opponents of the present scheme went beyond expectation. Nothing, indeed, was offered, in the whole of the session, excluded from the meeting by the terms of the call. Mr. Bright also felt himself excluded from this singular Liberal meeting which banished him. Mr. Chamberlain, who had meant to attend the meeting, changed his mind on reading Mr. Gladstone's letter making attendance equivalent to a pledge for Home Rule; but a number of his followers were present. They with the Gladstone made up the number to 210, less than two-thirds of the total number of the Liberal opponents of the present scheme went beyond expectation. Nothing, indeed, was offered, in the whole of the session, excluded from the meeting by the terms of the call. Mr. Bright also felt himself excluded from this singular Liberal meeting which banished him. Mr. Chamberlain, who had meant to attend the meeting, changed his mind on reading Mr. Gladstone's letter making attendance equivalent to a pledge for Home Rule; but a number of his followers were present. They with the Gladstone made up the number to 210, less than two-thirds of the total number of the Liberal opponents of the present scheme went beyond expectation. Nothing, indeed, was offered, in the whole of the session, excluded from the meeting by the terms of the call. Mr. Bright also felt himself excluded from this singular Liberal meeting which banished him. Mr. Chamberlain, who had meant to attend the meeting, changed his mind on reading Mr. Gladstone's letter making attendance equivalent to a pledge for Home Rule; but a number of his followers were present. They with the Gladstone made up the number to 210, less than two-thirds of the total number of the Liberal opponents of the present scheme went beyond expectation. Nothing, indeed, was offered, in the whole of the session, excluded from the meeting by the terms of the call. Mr. Bright also felt himself excluded from this singular Liberal meeting which banished him. Mr. Chamberlain, who had meant to attend the meeting, changed his mind on reading Mr. Gladstone's letter making attendance equivalent to a pledge for Home Rule; but a number of his followers were present. They with the Gladstone made up the number to 210, less than two-thirds of the total number of the Liberal opponents of the present scheme went beyond expectation. Nothing, indeed, was offered, in the whole of the session, excluded from the meeting by the terms of the call. Mr. Bright also felt himself excluded from this singular Liberal meeting which banished him. Mr. Chamberlain, who had meant to attend the meeting, changed his mind on reading Mr. Gladstone's letter making attendance equivalent to a pledge for Home Rule; but a number of his followers were present. They with the Gladstone made up the number to 210, less than two-thirds of the total number of the Liberal opponents of the present scheme went beyond expectation. Nothing, indeed, was offered, in the whole of the session, excluded from the meeting by the terms of the call. Mr. Bright also felt himself excluded from this singular Liberal meeting which banished him. Mr. Chamberlain, who had meant to attend the meeting, changed his mind on reading Mr. Gladstone's letter making attendance equivalent to a pledge for Home Rule; but a number of his followers were present. They with the Gladstone made up the number to 210, less than two-thirds of the total number of the Liberal opponents of the present scheme went beyond expectation. Nothing, indeed, was offered, in the whole of the session, excluded from the meeting by the terms of the call. Mr. Bright also felt himself excluded from this singular Liberal meeting which banished him. Mr. Chamberlain, who had meant to attend the meeting, changed his mind on reading Mr. Gladstone's letter making attendance equivalent to a pledge for Home Rule; but a number of his followers were present. They with the Gladstone made up the number to 210, less than two-thirds of the total number of the Liberal opponents of the present scheme went beyond expectation. Nothing, indeed, was offered, in the whole of the session, excluded from the meeting by the terms of the call. Mr. Bright also felt himself excluded from this singular Liberal meeting which banished him. Mr. Chamberlain, who had meant to attend the meeting, changed his mind on reading Mr. Gladstone's letter making attendance equivalent to a pledge for Home Rule; but a number of his followers were present. They with the Gladstone made up the number to 210, less than two-thirds of the total number of the Liberal opponents of the present scheme went beyond expectation. Nothing, indeed, was offered, in the whole of the session, excluded from the meeting by the terms of the call. Mr. Bright also felt himself excluded from this singular Liberal meeting which banished him. Mr. Chamberlain, who had meant to attend the meeting, changed his mind on reading Mr. Gladstone's letter making attendance equivalent to a pledge for Home Rule; but a number of his followers were present. They with the Gladstone made up the number to 210, less than two-thirds of the total number of the Liberal opponents of the present scheme went beyond expectation. Nothing, indeed, was offered, in the whole of the session, excluded from the meeting by the terms of the call. Mr. Bright also felt himself excluded from this singular Liberal meeting which banished him. Mr. Chamberlain, who had meant to attend the meeting, changed his mind on reading Mr. Gladstone's letter making attendance equivalent to a pledge for Home Rule; but a number of his followers were present. They with the Gladstone made up the number to 210, less than two-thirds of the total number of the Liberal opponents of the present scheme went beyond expectation. Nothing, indeed, was offered, in the whole of the session, excluded from the meeting by the terms of the call. Mr. Bright also felt himself excluded from this singular Liberal meeting which banished him. Mr. Chamberlain, who had meant to attend the meeting, changed his mind on reading Mr. Gladstone's letter making attendance equivalent to a pledge for Home Rule; but a number of his followers were present. They with the Gladstone made up the number to 210, less than two-thirds of the total number of the Liberal opponents of the present scheme went beyond expectation. Nothing, indeed, was offered, in the whole of the session, excluded from the meeting by the terms of the call. Mr. Bright also felt himself excluded from this singular Liberal meeting which banished him. Mr. Chamberlain, who had meant to attend the meeting, changed his mind on reading Mr. Gladstone's letter making attendance equivalent to a pledge for Home Rule; but a number of his followers were present. They with the Gladstone made up the number to 210, less than two-thirds of the total number of the Liberal opponents of the present scheme went beyond expectation. Nothing, indeed, was offered, in the whole of the session, excluded from the meeting by the terms of the call. Mr. Bright also felt himself excluded from this singular Liberal meeting which banished him. Mr. Chamberlain, who had meant to attend the meeting, changed his mind on reading Mr. Gladstone's letter making attendance equivalent to a pledge for Home Rule; but a number of his followers were present. They with the Gladstone made up the number to 210, less than two-thirds of the total number of the Liberal opponents of the present scheme went beyond expectation. Nothing, indeed, was offered, in the whole of the session, excluded from the meeting by the terms of the call. Mr. Bright also felt himself excluded from this singular Liberal meeting which banished him. Mr. Chamberlain, who had meant to attend the meeting, changed his mind on reading Mr. Gladstone's letter making attendance equivalent to a pledge for Home Rule; but a number of his followers were present. They with the Gladstone made up the number to 210, less than two-thirds of the total number of the Liberal opponents of the present scheme went beyond expectation. Nothing, indeed, was offered, in the whole of the session, excluded from the meeting by the terms of the call. Mr. Bright also felt himself excluded from this singular Liberal meeting which banished him. Mr. Chamberlain, who had meant to attend the meeting, changed his mind on reading Mr. Gladstone's letter making attendance equivalent to a pledge for Home Rule; but a number of his followers were present. They with the Gladstone made up the number to 210, less than two-thirds of the total number of the Liberal opponents of the present scheme went beyond expectation. Nothing, indeed, was offered, in the whole of the session, excluded from the meeting by the terms of the call. Mr. Bright also felt himself excluded from this singular Liberal meeting which banished him. Mr. Chamberlain, who had meant to attend the meeting, changed his mind on reading Mr. Gladstone's letter making attendance equivalent to a pledge for Home Rule; but a number of his followers were present. They with the Gladstone made up the number to 210, less than two-thirds of the total number of the Liberal opponents of the present scheme went beyond expectation. Nothing, indeed, was offered, in the whole of the session, excluded from the meeting by the terms of the call. Mr. Bright also felt himself excluded from this singular Liberal meeting which banished him. Mr. Chamberlain, who had meant to attend the meeting, changed his mind on reading Mr. Gladstone's letter making attendance equivalent to a pledge for Home Rule; but a number of his followers were present. They with the Gladstone made up the number to 210, less than two-thirds of the total number of the Liberal opponents of the present scheme went beyond expectation. Nothing, indeed, was offered, in the whole of the session, excluded from the meeting by the terms of the call. Mr. Bright also felt himself excluded from this singular Liberal meeting which banished him. Mr. Chamberlain, who had meant to attend the meeting, changed his mind on reading Mr. Gladstone's letter making attendance equivalent to a pledge for Home Rule; but a number of his followers were present. They with the Gladstone made up the number to 210, less than two-thirds of the total number of the Liberal opponents of the present scheme went beyond expectation. Nothing, indeed, was offered, in the whole of the session, excluded from the meeting by the terms of the call. Mr. Bright also felt himself excluded from this singular Liberal meeting which banished him. Mr. Chamberlain, who had meant to attend the meeting, changed his mind on reading Mr. Gladstone's letter making attendance equivalent to a pledge for Home Rule; but a number of his followers were present. They with the Gladstone made up the number to 210, less than two-thirds of the total number of the Liberal opponents of the present scheme went beyond expectation. Nothing, indeed, was offered, in the whole of the session, excluded from the meeting by the terms of the call. Mr. Bright also felt himself excluded from this singular Liberal meeting which banished him. Mr. Chamberlain, who had meant to attend the meeting, changed his mind on reading Mr. Gladstone's letter making attendance equivalent to a pledge for Home Rule; but a number of his followers were present. They with the Gladstone made up the number to 210, less than two-thirds of the total number of the Liberal opponents of the present scheme went beyond expectation. Nothing, indeed, was offered, in the whole of the session, excluded from the meeting by the terms of the call. Mr. Bright also felt himself excluded from this singular Liberal meeting which banished him. Mr. Chamberlain, who had meant to attend the meeting, changed his mind on reading Mr. Gladstone's letter making attendance equivalent to a pledge for Home Rule; but a number of his followers were present. They with the Gladstone made up the number to 210, less than two-thirds of the total number of the Liberal opponents of the present scheme went beyond expectation. Nothing, indeed, was offered, in the whole of the session, excluded from the meeting by the terms of the call. Mr everywhere to be in the majority, assert this as a question of the life or death of the French republic. If they say the government does not promptly and vigorously exert the power of expulsion put into its hands by the deputies the Orleanists would be fools if they did not seize such an excellent opportunity to overthrow the government, and perhaps the republic of France.

The radicals go still further, and openly express the hope that the Orleanist agitation will overthrow the Freycinet government. The premier himself appears either ignorant or heedless of this scheme to undermine him. He favors only the expulsion of the Comte de Paris, and he is seeking to force his views upon the cabinet with cash asthetic impetuosity. The bill is now in the hands of a committee of eleven, six of whom are strenuous advocates of the bill. Its promoters have therefore little to fear from this committee and when the bill is favorably reported back to the chamber, it will doubtless be easily passed.

Then M. de Freycinet's troubles will begin. The bill leaves all the discretion as to whom shall be expelled, and when, to the executive. The premier will be appealed to day and night, and expect this price and retain the other, and interpellations will be showered upon his head at every meeting of the chamber. It would be a very serious situation if a self-willed statesman like M. de Freycinet did not commit some errors in these delicate negotiations which would give his enemies, who are now both numerous and well drilled a chance to make their next attack upon the government the most vigorous and potent that they have made yet.

A great many men are predicting already that M. de Freycinet and his ministry will soon be overthrown, whatever tactics he may adopt regarding the bill, but he has been in equally difficult straits before, and his friends fully believe that his acknowledged parliamentary skill will carry him through his present perilous position.

MEMORIAL DAY.

Beautiful Services Held in Chicago and Nashville—The Addresses.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., June 1.—The annual decoration of the graves of the Federal dead at the National cemetery, six miles from this city, took place yesterday and the auspices of George H. Thomas Post G. A. R. A large crowd was in attendance. The best of decorum prevailed, the ceremonies were impressive and the floral offerings profuse.

Hon. B. H. Grosvenor, of Athens, Ohio, was the orator of the day, and delivered an able, eloquent and suggestive address, giving a brief history of the cause which led to the war of the rebellion, graphically portraying the ferociousness of the struggle, the bravery displayed on both sides, and closed with glowing pictures of the peace and prosperity that now rests upon the south, and the brotherly feeling existing between those who fought twenty years ago for the cause each deemed just.

In Chicago.

CHICAGO, June 1.—The Decoration Day services were under the direction of the National Veterans association and were well arranged. The street parade, in which some 60 uniformed Knights of the Union wore the first feature of the program, then the veterans and the several thousand people congregated and the usual services were conducted and the graves of the Union soldiers were strewn with flowers. The veterans closed the program by marching to the graves of Confederate soldiers, where a large floral cross was given a conspicuous place among the headstones that mark the last resting place of 4,000 southern soldiers.

In Cincinnati.

CINCINNATI, June 1.—Yesterday's rain was all that could be desired for today's decoration program. But little business was transacted anywhere. All public offices were closed. The day was generally given up to honoring the brave soldier dead who sleep in our midst. Thousands wended their way to leafy Spring Grove, carrying flowers for the graves of the dear ones gone.

DASTARDLY DEED.

A Knife Plunged into the Right Breast of a Young Man.

CHICAGO, June 1.—About 8:30 o'clock last evening William Graham, a young man of seventeen years, and Patrick Looney, a companion, were standing in the street near Stokely, talking to a woman, when two men passed them. As they passed Graham, Looney and the woman, one of them struck Looney. The young man remonstrated, and walked toward the men, when one of the strangers plunged a knife into Graham's right breast, and both ran away.

Drowned While Fishing.

CINCINNATI, June 1.—Fred Vos, a young man twenty-three years of age, living at 43 John street, was drowned in the Ohio river at the foot of Evans street. In company with his brother, two brothers-in-law and several other parties, he went down to Crawford's landing for the purpose of fishing and having a good time generally. They took a number of musical instruments with them, and, unfortunately, spent considerable time in rushing the guitar and mandolin, but however, was suddenly terminated by the discovery that Fred Vos was missing. Diligent search was made but without avail. Later his hat was shot down by his brother, which confirmed the worst apprehensions of the party. He had probably fallen asleep and rolled into the water from the large log. Up to a late hour the murderer had not been arrested.

Waylaid and Killed by a Maniac.

KEOKUK, Ia., June 1.—Jacob Steffer, a well-to-do citizen, was shot dead by John, who was recently released from an insane asylum before being fully cured. The young man had somehow eluded the watchfulness of the family, picked a revolver and waylaid his father in the dark. The mother of the youthful maniac, who, by her inopportunities, procured his liberation, is nearly frantic.

Jeff Jugged.

CAIRO, Ill., June 1.—Jeff, the fourth man in the gang that held up the Rock Island express, is supposed to be the man now held in our county jail for the Cairo train robbery that was perpetrated a few weeks ago. Jeff's name is Steacy, and he is from Peoria, Ill.

Martin Runs in Placental Trouble.

SEBASTIA, Mo., June 1.—Deputy Constable William Wallace levied upon a portion of Martin Orr's household goods to satisfy a debt of $7 due Patrick O'Connor for several months past for horse rent.

A Gross Breach of Etiquette.

"Never touch a flower with your nose when you inhale its perfume," said a gentleman on the other day in my hearing to his little daughter. This lesson in the proprieties is one which all mothers might well impress upon their children. Among the ruling classes in Chicago, I am told, the proprieties are gross breach of etiquette to bury the nose in the buds and blossoms of a bouquet. Surely, from an esthetic point of view, any such practice is to be reprobated.

Who has not smiled at the appearance of those ardent lovers of the "stars of earth" who, for the sake of their nasal organs, deep down amid the perfume-laden lilies, and after many long-drawn inhalations raise their face all golden with the pollen of the dew-drops? To touch the petals of the way flowers that are intended for another sense almost a sacrilege. To say nothing of the injury done to the petals by such an invasion, there is something distasteful to sensitive persons in having their bouquets brought into such close contact with the "human face," no matter how "divine" it may be. The enjoyment of the perfume of flowers is keener and more refined when the fragrance is inhaled without touching the blossom.—Courier-Journal.

On the Stage with the Toothache.

"I remember once," said the manager, "that poor John McCullough had a raging toothache one night when he was playing Virgilus at McVicker's. The tooth began to howl while he was making up for the part, and he had no time to get a dentist. During the whole first act he was in agony, and he ordered Harry Vance to send out for a dentist at any cost. Dentists were hard to find at such an hour, and McCullough's tooth played the 'Star Spangled Banner' without missing a note. In the second scene he had a chance to relieve himself, and the way he did denounce Appius Claudius was a caution. Ned Collier, who played the part, was scared to death. After that act the dentist came into the dressing-room and examined the refractory molar. Like all of his profession, he wanted to save and fill it, but McCullough said, 'Out with it.' It was a pretty scary tooth, and the tragedian hung to the straps of his trunk while the dentist yanked. It finally flew out. 'Out with it,' said the dentist, rather witted. He didn't have to make up much for grief in the last act."—Chicago Herald.

NOTHING NEW.

The Situations Between the Knights and Labor Unions.

CLEVELAND, O., June 1.—There are no new developments in the controversy between the Knights of Labor and the trades unions. The delegates spent the day in visiting the different places of interest in and about the city, not a few going out to Lakewood to visit the Garfield monument now in course of erection and see the coffin in which the remains of the late president now repose. Mr. Powderly exerted himself as little as possible throughout the day, husbanding his strength for the arduous duties of the week before him. The outcome of today's session and the report of the committees are awaited with a manifest interest among all classes of citizens.

FIVE LIVES LOST.

Rev. T. C. Jerome, Two Sons and a Daughter Drowned While Playing in the Water.

WOLFEBOURN, N. H., June 1.—Rev. T. C. Jerome, with his two sons and a daughter and a young man named Davis, went out on the lake on a fishing excursion and failed to return when expected. A steamer boat owned by an overboarded boatman Jamieson Island. Search was made and late in the evening the bodies of the whole party were recovered. Mr. Jerome was a wealthy gentleman, owning about $400,000 worth of property. He came from New York two years ago. Irene Jerome, the artist and authoress, is a sister of the deceased.

Baltimore Blaze.

BALTIMORE, Md., June 1.—Fire broke out in No. 40 Monument street, occupied by Mrs. Powers, and extended to Nos. 47, 45, 43, 51 and 53 Monument street, destroying all six stories. The property belonging to A. Stark & Son, and was valued at $5,000. The family of Mr. Elliott, residing in No. 47 had to be taken out of the windows by means of ladders. Mr. J. W. Lewis, aged twenty-four, jumped from the third story of No. 40, and broke a leg. The loss to the dwellers of the house is $15,000 on furniture.

Mexican "Law."

GALVESTON, Texas, June 1.—A special from San Antonio says: "A gentleman just returned from Monterey says Conductor Webb and Engineer Scott of the Mexican National railway, were imprisoned at Monterey on Friday for knocking a drunken Mexican off the track while their train was running. The man was not killed. The arrested men are Americans. It's not known whether they have been released yet or not."

Chicago Unraveled out of a Sensation.

CHICAGO, June 1.—The police were mystified by finding a man's hat, a walking stick and shirt cuff, all covered with blood, on North avenue. It was surmised that a murder had been committed. The mystery was unraveled by the statement of a Dakota farmer, who had been intoxicated, and who had either been his with a stone or fell on the stone pavement, causing him to bleed copiously. He reported the facts to the police.

Gophers at Work.

CHICAGO, Ill., June 1.—The safe of County Treasurer Fairley, of Perry county, Mo., was robbed yesterday morning of $20,000. The money was in two packages, blown open with gun powder. The burglar left behind them two packages containing $3,700. It is thought to be the work of professional.

Kansas' Way With a Horse Thief.

WYTHEFIELD, Kan., June 1.—Some time ago William Bryson stole a horse near Dexter and fled with it to the Indian Territory. A party of men, who were accompanied by several similar threats by a mob of avengers, who hanged him to a tree near Ink Ranch.

The Week's Imports of New York.

NEW YORK, June 1.—The imports of merchandise during the past week were valued at $6,065,430.

A Governor's Business Day.

ALBANY, N. Y., June 1.—Because of the pressure of public business Governor Hill will not be able to attend the Decoration Day exercises in New York today.

The Minneapolis Exposition Building.

ST. PAUL, June 1.—The corner-stone of the Minneapolis Exposition building was laid with imposing ceremonies. It will cost $300,000.

THE EVENING BULLETIN

TUESDAY, JUNE 1, 1888.

Gov. West is giving the polygamous Mormons a lot of good advice about their duty to obey the laws of the United States. When one of their elders twitted him with having been a rebel against the Federal government once upon a time, the Governor retorted: "Yes; I did deny and resist the United States, and got so soundly whipped for it that I have ever since advised everybody to avoid my example."—Bourbon News.

The brilliant victory won by Judge Wall at the recent primary has, as most every one thought, given him such a boom in the district that he is likely to prove an easy winner in the coming contest. The reports from Lewis, Bracken, Fleming, Nicholas and Robertson Counties all indicate that they will be sold for Wall. The result in Mason proved conclusively that the Judge was a man of ceaseless energy, and that he knew how to thoroughly organize his forces. He is now giving his time and attention to a canvass of the district, and meets with a cordial reception everywhere. The indications now point, unmistakably to his nomination, and his election will certainly follow.

OUR NEIGHBORS.

WASHINGTON.

Mrs. Vonoltz and daughter will not come here for the present.

Mr. Robinson, of Lawrence Creek, is attending quietly meeting.

Quarterly meeting commenced in the M. E. Church, Sunday, June 1. Two additional.

Rev. Dr. E. O. Guernsey has accepted a call to the church at Lawrence Creek, and is to be installed on the 20th of June.

Rev. J. R. Peoples, the Presiding Elder for this district, was at the house here last evening. He is a very able and energetic man, and is to be installed on the 20th of June.

What They Say.

"TOWNSHIP BOARDERS" is the title of a new book by J. O. Baird, M. D., Central, Ill.

FOR SALE BY ALL DRUGGISTS. PRICE ONE DOLLAR PER BOTTLE.

A. A. MELLER, Sole Proprietor, 709 and 711 WASHINGTON AVENUE, ST. LOUIS.

He's gone.

L. D. Franklin, of Cincinnati, is visiting here.

Dr. F. Smith is on a visit to relatives in Cleveland, O.

Miss Katie Evans, of Bracken County, is the guest of Miss Eliza Evans.

W. B. Broadwell has opened a tailor shop in his property on Market street.

Rev. Wagon and family are spending several days with his father-in-law at Lexington, Ky.

Miss Lena Jacobs left last Saturday for several days visit to W. B. Jacobs, Hillsboro, Ohio.

A large number of our people participated in the decoration services at Mt. Pisgah, O., Sunday afternoon.

The surviving corps of the M. and B. R. R. are now on their way to the coast, re-taking the old route on rail-street.

Information was received last week that the body of the late John W. Verdon, who was hopelessly insane at Mt. Vernon, Mo., had been buried in the cemetery.

Rev. A. D. Raleigh, of the M. E. Church, preached a very able and instructive discourse to a large audience Sunday afternoon.

Last Friday at 12 o'clock the residence of Thomas F. Anderson took fire from a spark dropping from a passing locomotive.

Being prepared. Immediately the whole roof was in a sheet of flame, but through the heroic efforts of a well managed household a serious fire was prevented, and the loss was confined to the roof and furniture.

In this connection, we will say that Mr. Anderson and family request us to return their sincerest and most grateful thanks to all persons who have given valuable service in saving their property.

ABERDEEN ITEMS.

The Huff House last fifty-six people at dinner Sunday.

Quite a number of the George A. Bailey Post turned out with Joseph Heiler Post, Mayville, on decoration day.

Mr. J. W. Lewis, who resides five or six miles from here, in Adams County.

New firm. First-class coal at living prices! Frank Asenbrenner has opened a coal yard here, on the corner of Adams street.

There will be preaching at the Baptist Church next Sunday evening by Rev. W. F. Fayer.

Prayer meeting every Thursday night.

Gwynne L. Marvin and Miss Josie Davis, of Omaha, are visiting here.

Mr. Marvin's father, charged, paid Ripley a visit on Saturday.

George Bailey Post, of this place, accompanied by Joseph Heiler Post, of Mayville, and Engineer Scott of the Mexican National railway, were imprisoned at Monterey on Friday for knocking a drunken Mexican off the track while their train was running.

The man was not killed. The arrested men are Americans. It's not known whether they have been released yet or not.

Chicago Unraveled out of a Sensation.

CHICAGO, June 1.—The police were mystified by finding a man's hat, a walking stick and shirt cuff, all covered with blood, on North avenue. It was surmised that a murder had been committed. The mystery was unraveled by the statement of a Dakota farmer, who had been intoxicated, and who had either been his with a stone or fell on the stone pavement, causing him to bleed copiously. He reported the facts to the police.

Gophers at Work.

CHICAGO, Ill., June 1.—The safe of County Treasurer Fairley, of Perry county, Mo., was robbed yesterday morning of $20,000. The money was in two packages, blown open with gun powder. The burglar left behind them two packages containing $3,700. It is thought to be the work of professional.

Kansas' Way With a Horse Thief.

WYTHEFIELD, Kan., June 1.—Some time ago William Bryson stole a horse near Dexter and fled with it to the Indian Territory. A party of men, who were accompanied by several similar threats by a mob of avengers, who hanged him to a tree near Ink Ranch.

The Week's Imports of New York.

NEW YORK, June 1.—The imports of merchandise during the past week were valued at $6,065,430.

A Governor's Business Day.

ALBANY, N. Y., June 1.—Because of the pressure of public business Governor Hill will not be able to attend the Decoration Day exercises in New York today.

The Minneapolis Exposition Building.

ST. PAUL, June 1.—The corner-stone of the Minneapolis Exposition building was laid with imposing ceremonies. It will cost $300,000.

HEADQUARTER!

FOR

Seersucker Coats and Vests;
Silk Pongee Coats and Vests;
Alpaca Coats and Vests;
Children's Waists;
Light-Weight Suits in various fabrics; prices LOWER than any other house in the State.

The season is here for them and we have them for you.

Seeing is believing, so come and look at them.

HECHINGER & CO

ODDFELLOWS' HALL.

The Matism

Though painful and wearing almost beyond endurance, not an incurable disease if treated at its source. Perhaps no other disease has so baffled the efforts of science and medicine as this, but at a remedy has been discovered in

DOUGLASS' RHEUMATISM CURE.

It is a remedy for Rheumatism, Gout, Gravel, Neuralgia, Sciatica, etc., and is highly recommended by many of the leading Physicians.

WHAT THEY SAY.

"I have given DOUGLASS' RHEUMATISM CURE, and think it is the best remedy I have ever used for Rheumatism."

"I have given DOUGLASS' RHEUMATISM CURE, and think it is the best remedy I have ever used for Rheumatism."

"I have given DOUGLASS' RHEUMATISM CURE, and think it is the best remedy I have ever used for Rheumatism."

"I have given DOUGLASS' RHEUMATISM CURE, and think it is the best remedy I have ever used for Rheumatism."

"I have given DOUGLASS' RHEUMATISM CURE, and think it is the best remedy I have ever used for Rheumatism."

"I have given DOUGLASS' RHEUMATISM CURE, and think it is the best remedy I have ever used for Rheumatism."

"I have given DOUGLASS' RHEUMATISM CURE, and think it is the best remedy I have ever used for Rheumatism."

"I have given DOUGLASS' RHEUMATISM CURE, and think it is the best remedy I have ever used for Rheumatism."

"I have given DOUGLASS' RHEUMATISM CURE, and think it is the best remedy I have ever used for Rheumatism."

"I have given DOUGLASS' RHEUMATISM CURE, and think it is the best remedy I have ever used for Rheumatism."

"I have given DOUGLASS' RHEUMATISM CURE, and think it is the best remedy I have ever used for Rheumatism."

"I have given DOUGLASS' RHEUMATISM CURE, and think it is the best remedy I have ever used for Rheumatism."

"I have given DOUGLASS' RHEUMATISM CURE, and think it is the best remedy I have ever used for Rheumatism."

"I have given DOUGLASS' RHEUMATISM CURE, and think it is the best remedy I have ever used for Rheumatism."

"I have given DOUGLASS' RHEUMATISM CURE, and think it is the best remedy I have ever used for Rheumatism."

"I have given DOUGLASS' RHEUMATISM CURE, and think it is the best remedy I have ever used for Rheumatism."

"I have given DOUGLASS' RHEUMATISM CURE, and think it is the best remedy I have ever used for Rheumatism."

"I have given DOUGLASS' RHEUMATISM CURE, and think it is the best remedy I have ever used for Rheumatism."

"I have given DOUGLASS' RHEUMATISM CURE, and think it is the best remedy I have ever used for Rheumatism."

"I have given DOUGLASS' RHEUMATISM CURE, and think it is the best remedy I have ever used for Rheumatism."

"I have given DOUGLASS' RHEUMATISM CURE, and think it is the best remedy I have ever used for Rheumatism."

"I have given DOUGLASS' RHEUMATISM CURE, and think it is the best remedy I have ever used for Rheumatism."

"I have given DOUGLASS' RHEUMATISM CURE, and think it is the best remedy I have ever used for Rheumatism."

"I have given DOUGLASS' RHEUMATISM CURE, and think it is the best remedy I have ever used for Rheumatism."

"I have given DOUGLASS' RHEUMATISM CURE, and think it is the best remedy I have ever used for Rheumatism."

"I have given DOUGLASS' RHEUMATISM CURE, and think it is the best remedy I have ever used for Rheumatism."

"I have given DOUGLASS' RHEUMATISM CURE, and think it is the best remedy I have ever used for Rheumatism."

"I have given DOUGLASS' RHEUMATISM CURE, and think it is the best remedy I have ever used for Rheumatism."

"I have given DOUGLASS' RHEUMATISM CURE, and think it is the best remedy I have ever used for Rheumatism."

"I have given DOUGLASS' RHEUMATISM CURE, and think it is the best remedy I have ever used for Rheumatism."

"I have given DOUGLASS' RHEUMATISM CURE, and think it is the best remedy I have ever used for Rheumatism."

"I have given DOUGLASS' RHEUMATISM CURE, and think it is the best remedy I have ever used for Rheumatism."

"I have given DOUGLASS' RHEUMATISM CURE, and think it is the best remedy I have ever used for Rheumatism."

"I have given DOUGLASS' RHEUMATISM CURE, and think it is the best remedy I have ever used for Rheumatism."

"I have given DOUGLASS' RHEUMATISM CURE, and think it is the best remedy I have ever used for Rheumatism."

"I have given DOUGLASS' RHEUMATISM CURE, and think it is the best remedy I have ever used for Rheumatism."

"I have given DOUGLASS' RHEUMATISM CURE, and think it is the best remedy I have ever used for Rheumatism."

"I have given DOUGLASS' RHEUMATISM CURE, and think it is the best remedy I have ever used for Rheumatism."

"I have given DOUGLASS' RHEUMATISM CURE, and think it is the best remedy I have ever used for Rheumatism."

"I have given DOUGLASS' RHEUMATISM CURE, and think it is the best remedy I have ever used for Rheumatism."

"I have given DOUGLASS' RHEUMATISM CURE, and think it is the best remedy I have ever used for Rheumatism."

"I have given DOUGLASS' RHEUMATISM CURE, and think it is the best remedy I have ever used for Rheumatism."

"I have given DOUGLASS' RHEUMATISM CURE, and think it is the best remedy I have ever used for Rheumatism."

"I have given DOUGLASS' RHEUMATISM CURE, and think it is the best remedy I have ever used for Rheumatism."

"I have given DOUGLASS' RHEUMATISM CURE, and think it is the best remedy I have ever used for Rheumatism."

"I have given DOUGLASS' RHEUMATISM CURE, and think it is the best remedy I have ever used for Rheumatism."

"I have given DOUGLASS' RHEUMATISM CURE, and think it is the best remedy I have ever used for Rheumatism."

"I have given DOUGLASS' RHEUMATISM CURE, and think it is the best remedy I have ever used for Rheumatism."

"I have given DOUGLASS' RHEUMATISM CURE, and think it is the best remedy I have ever used for Rheumatism."

"I have given DOUGLASS' RHEUMATISM CURE, and think it is the best remedy I have ever used for Rheumatism."

"I have given DOUGLASS' RHEUMATISM CURE, and think it is the best remedy I have ever used for Rheumatism."

"I have given DOUGLASS' RHEUMATISM CURE, and think it is the best remedy I have ever used for Rheumatism."

"I have given DOUGLASS' RHEUMATISM CURE, and think it is the best remedy I have ever used for Rheumatism."

"I have given DOUGLASS' RHEUMATISM CURE, and think it is the best remedy I have ever used for Rheumatism."

"I have given DOUGLASS' RHEUMATISM CURE, and think it is the best remedy I have ever used for Rheumatism."

"I have given DOUGLASS' RHEUMATISM CURE, and think it is the best remedy I have ever used for Rheumatism."

"I have given DOUGLASS' RHEUMATISM CURE, and think it is the best remedy I have ever used for Rheumatism."

"I have given DOUGLASS' RHEUMATISM CURE, and think it is the best remedy I have ever used for Rheumatism."

"I have given DOUGLASS' RHEUMATISM CURE, and think it is the best remedy I have ever used for Rheumatism."

"I have given DOUGLASS' RHEUMATISM CURE, and think it is the best remedy I have ever used for Rheumatism."

"I have given DOUGLASS' RHEUMATISM CURE, and think it is the best remedy I have ever used for Rheumatism."

"I have given DOUGLASS' RHEUMATISM CURE, and think it is the best remedy I have ever used for Rheumatism."

"I have given DOUGLASS' RHEUMATISM CURE, and think it is the best remedy I have ever used for Rheumatism."

"I have given DOUGLASS' RHEUMATISM CURE, and think it is the best remedy I have ever used for Rheumatism."

"I have given DOUGLASS' RHEUMATISM CURE, and think it is the best remedy I have ever used for Rheumatism."

"I have given DOUGLASS' RHEUMATISM CURE, and think it is the best remedy I have ever used for Rheumatism."

